From the student who hasn't wanted to talk to you -- she had sent me the email dated Thursday August 16 (below), which I don't think I responded to, and now just this morning she sent me this. Should I respond? Is it time for you to just call her or email her? She's obviously afraid of Bender.

Don't you feel that I'm just too far into now? I don't see how I can do anything until at least Winter semester. [REDACTED] [REDACTED] Some have told me that if he finds out I said anything then he could ruin my education plans. I can't take that chance; I've worked so hard and don't want to be put in that situation.

Thanks you for your help and support, but I'll just have to manage the situation myself. I won't meet him off-campus anywhere, and if he makes a comment, I'm just going to tell him to stop.

I'm really very sorry to hear that you're feeling stuck in something that is unfulfilling or unsatisfying. [REDACTED]

And please let me know if you want me to help you change things -- you're truly not stuck, there are always options, and it's my job to make things right for students in this department if I possibly can.

I'm out. I'm too far sucked into the program to talk to anyone. [REDACTED] [REDACTED] I see no way of speaking with her and protecting my educational program.

Sorry.

Hi,

I just wanted to check in -- I was just talking with the attorney in Legal Affairs, Ms. Ballard-Washington, and she mentioned that she hadn't heard from either of you. Are you in the position yet to speak with her?
Please do, if you possibly can -- you can reach her through 706 542-0006, just tell the receptionist that you are a student and you need to talk to Ms.
Ballard-Washington, you don't need to say anything more than that to the receptionist, and Ms. Ballard-Washington will recognize who you are and is waiting to talk with you. And if you are still afraid of speaking to her, then please let me know that, so I can change whatever needs to be changed
so you don't have to live in fear, because that's not right either.

Hope you're doing well --

Anne

Dr. Bothe:

I am one of the students that Dr. Ayres spoke to you about earlier today.

He
mentioned to me that you would like to speak to us about specific situations that took place between us and Dr. Bender. I am on campus on Tuesdays and Thursdays until 12:45. I will be happy to speak with you anytime after class, if that is convenient for you.

You can reach me at this e-mail address:

Thank you, and I am looking forward to our meeting.

Sincerely,
